Will Start Construction of 14 or 15 Buildings in Week or Two

TO EMPLOY ABOUT 500

Actual Manufacture To Get Underway By End
Of Year

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, July 30—Work of grading the tract of 125 to 150 acres on which will be erected the plant of the Publicker Company has gotten underway, and it is anticipated that within one or two weeks, actual work of construction of buildings to house the plant equipment will be started.

Already a temporary field office has been erected, and is now occupied by representatives of Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation, the contractors; and a few other temporary structures have made their appearance on the large plot which extends from the Delaware River to the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The new plant site is on both sides of State Road between Cornwells Heights and Eddington.

Personnel and employees of the new firm will be brought from the main office in Boston, Mass., and from other plants situated in various parts of the United States, in anticipation of the manufacture of alcohol butadiene or synthetic rubber.

Officials of the firm stated today that 14 or 15 one-story buildings, of masonry construction, are to be erected on the site. Plans for some are so designed that horizontal or vertical expansion may be arranged in the future.

Materials have been ordered for the erection of the structures. They will be used as administration buildings, boiler houses, garages, and for housing the general equipment needed in the manufacture of alcohol butadiene.

There are on the job at present about 100 workmen, and this number is soon to be increased, considerably so when actual construction of the permanent buildings gets underway.

It is stated by plant officials that approximately 500 persons will be employed at the plant. Actual manufacture is expected to be underway by the end of the year.

CAMP STEWART MEN STUDYING JAPANESE

By International News Service
CAMP STEWART, Ga.—(INS)—Evidently the boys at Camp Stewart intend to move into Tokyo—the Japanese language is becoming as popular there as judo.

Organized some weeks ago, the first class is waiting for advanced material from Washington while the second class gets under way. Completion of the second level will mean a speaking knowledge of some 1,200 to 1,500 Jap words and phrases, according to Miss Geraldine LeMay, librarian, who fostered the classes.

Pvt. Irving Suhl, who speaks several other foreign languages, did not know a word of Japanese when he began, but he has been made the official instructor of the new class.

TROOPS BOLSTERED BY THEIR VICTORIES

Move Into Second and Perhaps
Decisive Half of '43 Eagerly

GLOBAL CAMPAIGN

(Editor's Note: Following is the first of two articles dealing with progress made by American Army and Navy Forces during the first six months of 1943 and the position of the U. S. and its Allies as we enter the second and perhaps decisive half of the year. The first deals with the army.)

By Joseph A. Bors
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(INS)—Bolstered by a string of important victories, American Army troops and Air Forces today moved into the second and perhaps decisive half of 1943 eager to strike devastating new blows against the Axis on fronts throughout the world.

While German, Italian and Japanese radio commentators displayed mounting signs of "jitters" over the next moves by the United Nations, the Allies deployed their armies without fanfare in line with well laid plans in the global campaign to drive into Rome, Berlin and Tokyo.

Although conservative military men warned that heavy fighting and perhaps even temporary setbacks still lie ahead, the past six months proved definitely that the initiative now is held by the United Nations and that final victory is merely a matter of time and timing.

In contrast to a year ago when American and Allied forces were fighting desperately to stem the Axis invasion tide, the past six months have brought a succession of brilliant victories that sent enemy armies reeling back in North Africa, the Aleutians, the Solomons, New Guinea and China.

Highlight of the "victory" developments of the past six months was the phenomenal growth of the Army Air Forces which enabled the United Nations to sweep the Luftwaffe out of the Tunisian skies and paved the way for the enemy's crushing defeat in North Africa.

The United Nations' counter-offensive actually began last August with the invasion of Japanese-held Guadalcanal in the southern Solomons and the subsequent landings in French North Africa.

However, January of this year still found the Japs on Guadalcanal and a powerful German and Italian force in Tunisia. Australian leaders were warning that the Japs were preparing to invade that continent. Axis U-boats in the Atlantic were blasting United Nations shipping.

Slowly but surely the tide began to turn and the trend toward a United Nations victory was marked clearly by developments such as these:

Late in January, American and United Nations forces under Gen. Douglas MacArthur swept the Japanese from the Papuan Peninsula of New Guinea, thus eliminating a direct enemy threat aimed at the important Allied base at Port Moresby.

In late January, President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and their military and naval leaders met at Casablanca to map plans for further offensive moves throughout the world.

Early in February, U. S. Army troops completed the task begun by American Marines on Guadalcanal, crushing all enemy resistance and tightening the hold on important Henderson airfield. Shortly after, American forces expanded into the Russell Islands, 60 miles west of Guadalcanal.

Over Axis-held Europe, Royal Air Force and American heavy bombers stepped up their aerial

FLAG EXERCISES URGED CONTINUED IN THE SCHOOLS

Boards To Make Exceptions
For Religious Purposes
Only

ISSUE A BULLETIN

Recent Supreme Court Ruling
Prevents Regulations
By Some Boards

The school boards of Bucks County were urged by the county superintendent to continue their school flag exercises as previously conducted, making exceptions only for pupils whose religious convictions prevented them from saluting the flag. In a bulletin just sent to all school directors the county superintendent quoted from a report of a Bucks County advisory committee submitted in 1941 and published in 1942: "The salute to the flag should be a very solemn ceremony, but the salute should not be required of pupils whose religious creed opposes such a salute. Such pupils should arise on the occasion and face the flag. In five school districts there are pupils whose creed opposes symbols such as a flag. Refugee children should not be embarrassed by any stringent regulations in this respect. They should stand during the ceremony."

The recent Supreme Court decision prevents school boards from enforcing the regulations such as had been adopted by a few of Bucks County's fifty-four school boards, in which children from the Jehovah's Witnesses sect were expelled from school for not complying with the flag salute. The county advisory committee on citizenship, appointed by the county superintendent, included: Caleb Cope of Morrisville, active in the American Legion circles; Robert Shaw, chairman of the resolutions committee of Bucks County School Directors' Association; Dr. Walter Mohr of the George School; four high school teachers; Mrs. Mabel Elliott of Doylestown; James Doherty of Morrisville; Jesse Cressman of Quakertown; and H. Martin Jones of Sellersville-Perkasie; Mr. Manoah R. Reiter of Morrisville, and Edward Blester of Doylestown, District Attorney for Bucks County.

This committee recommended also the following:

1. Vitalization of American History by every possible visual or auditory means available is now essential rather than desirable. Sound movie projectors should be standard high school equipment in order that history can be shown in a vivid, realistic, and interesting manner. The use of specially recorded historic events and radio should not be neglected.

2. Emphasis upon social and civic traits should be followed in all grades. Where printed reports are sent to parents, civic and social traits should have a conspicuous emphasis. The over-emphasis of scholastic achievement to the exclusion of citizenship in all grades is to be challenged.

Farm Workers in Penna.
Work Hour Longer Daily

HARRISBURG, July 1.—(INS)—One-fourth of Pennsylvania's farm workers are women and all farm hands and operators are laboring nearly a full hour longer each day to increase wartime production, according to the Department of Agriculture.

Secretary Miles Horst said that farm wages have shown a "decided increase" during the past year. He added that since April, 1942, the number of children under 14 years of age working on farms has increased from six to 12 per cent. of all farm workers.

Horst asserted that crops and farm work are "far behind schedule," but that some of the lag has been taken up during the warm weather since late in May. "The labor shortage is greatest in areas where vegetable crops are ready for movement to canneries," he pointed out.

Answering a question from the floor, the British war leader said inter-Allied committee experts are studying international law on the subject and collecting the necessary data.

"You may rest assured that one of the aims of His Majesty's government and the governments of the United Nations will be to insure that Europe will be totally purged of the economic servitude forced upon her by Germany," the Prime Minister said.

assaults against military objectives, setting the pattern for "non-stop" attacks used so effectively later in the Mediterranean area.

The first week in March, American and United Nations airmen under Lieut. Gen. George C. Kenney, scored a stunning victory over the Japanese in the Bismarck Sea, sinking all 22 warships and cargo vessels heading for New Guinea with reinforcements and supplies.

This news electrified the Allied world. The score ended: 19 Japanese warships and 12 transports sunk; approximately 15,000 Japanese killed; 102 enemy planes destroyed. The Allies lost one bomber and three fighters.

April brought a gigantic American aerial offensive against Japan-held Kiska Island in the Aleutians. A total of 145 separate attacks were made that month, mostly from a new U. S. air base on Anchikita Island, only 70 miles from Kiska.

Late in April, the Tunisian campaign moved into high gear as United Nations planes won control of the skies, sliced up Axis communication lines, and blasted a path to vital Tunis and Bizerte. On May 13, the overwhelmed Axis forces gave up on Cape Bon.

Completeness of the United Nations victory was indicated by the fact that about 270,000 German and Italian troops were taken prisoner; enemy dead were estimated at 30,000 and wounded at more than 27,000. United Nations casualties in Tunisia were placed at 70,000 dead, wounded, missing and prisoners.

Meanwhile, on May 11, U. S. Army troops, supported by naval units, by-passed Kiska and landed on enemy-held Attu Island, 200 miles to the west. Within three weeks, the lightning campaign was over.

After a brief breathing spell, American and United Nations airmen unleashed an aerial offensive that crushed the Axis defenders of Italian Pantelleria Island in the Mediterranean. Ground forces virtually "sauntered" onto the island to take over on June 11.

The capture of the islands of Lampedusa and Linosa followed quickly, thus securing the Mediterranean sea lanes for United Nations supplies, and the air forces turned their attention to the larger island of Sicily and to the southern European mainland.

Meanwhile, Churchill and Roosevelt met again in Washington to discuss plans for new blows and this time military and naval leaders from the Pacific and Far Eastern war zones joined actively in the talks, giving the meetings a global flavor.

In China, native troops supported by Chinese and American pilots, turned back a Japanese land drive in the Ichang sector.

On the production front, the output of American planes began to reach astronomical proportions, and this was reflected in heavier and heavier day and night blows against German industrial areas.

Plane production zoomed from 5,013 in January of this year, to more than 7,200 in May; approximately 600 of the latter total were four-motored bombers.

Allied merchant sinkings dropped sharply in April and May as the United Nations poured more escort vessels and planes in the battle. The Axis began to deploy their European divisions in anticipation of anticipated Allied landings on the continent.

These developments, however, were merely samples of coming events which may follow in quick succession.

In recent testimony before Congress, Lieut. Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, Deputy Chief of Staff, asserted that in the Pacific the United Nations have "turned the tide of Japanese advance into a gradual withdrawal toward their home bases."

He also predicted that this nation would carry the war to Japan "in a most violent and destructive way."

McNarney set the present strength of the U. S. Army at 6,800,000 men, exclusive of officers, and said the ultimate goal was 8,200,000 officers and men. The Air Forces alone now numbers over 2,000,000.

Odds And Ends Club Has An Attractive Exhibit

DOYLESTOWN, July 1—Mrs. H. Leroy Kister was hostess on the occasion of the second meeting of the Odds and Ends club a few days ago. The meeting was featured by the showing of paintings and short talks.

Mrs. George W. Sotter showed a pastel of an arrangement of various flowers in a glass container against a neutral background. She also told of the rubies, real and synthetic, which she had seen in her search for a jewel to be placed in the center of the cross of the tabernacle which is being made at the Sotter studios.

Mrs. Edward M. Paxson told of a number of concerts she attended and of the distinguished pianists taking part. Mrs. George M. Whittenack also told of the artists taking part at these concerts.

A small mahogany tray with decorations of dogwoods carved in each corner was displayed by Miss Helen Harding, following which Mrs. Kister read an original poem, "The Fireflies."

Mrs. Penberton Ginter exhibited a small blue and white study of white roses, and a larger oil painting of the arcade at the Moravian Pottery at the height of the wisteria season.

Pastor

We pray thy blessing, O God, upon all those who are disconsolate—those who are carrying in their hearts trials and burdens which are beyond the comprehension of friends, and who need the counsel and comfort of thy Holy Spirit. Human agencies can not bring to them the release which they need, but the all-powerful spirit can free them from the shackles of despair and cause them once more to rejoice in Hope. Bless them, O Father, and lead them into a fuller knowledge of Thee, through thy Son Jesus Christ Amen.

A Frozen "Creation"

By Frances Lee Barton

"THAT'S not merely a pie, that's a creation," remarked a delighted guest one day. And such praise is manna to the soul of a hostess.

Here's a frozen "creation" for women who find it difficult to serve guests as they did when the horn of plenty hung over each dining room table.

Pudding Ice Cream Dessert

1 teaspoon granulated gelatin;
2 1/2 cup milk; 1 package prepared butterscotch pudding; 1/2 cup sugar; 1 1/2 cups milk; 1 1/2 cups light cream.

Sift gelatin in 1/2 cup milk. Place pudding powder in saucepan. Add sugar and 1 1/2 cups milk gradually, stirring constantly. Cook and stir over medium flame until mixture comes to a boil and is thickened. Remove from fire.

Add gelatin-milk mixture and stir. Place in freezing tray of automatic refrigerator setting control for coldest freezing temperature. When partially frozen, remove to bowl and beat with rotary egg beater.

Return to freezing tray and freeze 20 minutes longer, stir. Then freeze until firm. Freezing time, 3 to 4 hours. Makes 3/4 quart.

Note: Gelatin may be omitted, if desired.

Mrs. Horace Jefferies, Benson Place, was christened on Sunday in St. James' Episcopal Church and named Miriam True Pierce. The sponsors were Miss Cecelia Jefferies and Charles Ford, aunt and uncle of the baby. A family dinner followed at the Jefferies home.

Mrs. Margaret Murphy, Hayes street, was a guest over the week-end of Mrs. A. D. Wister, West Philadelphia.

CAMILLI SAYS 15 HOME RUNS WILL WIN LEAGUE TITLE

Dodgers' Powerhouse Says This Will Be War Year Standard

BALL NOT LIVELY

Figures Also Give Support To Well-Known Player's Claims

By Garry Schumacher
I. N. S. Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 1—(INS)—Will 15 home runs win this year's National League slugging crown? That would be turning the baseball clock back to the days of "Home Run" Baker and "Gabby" Cravath, but no less an authority upon home run hitting than the Dodgers' Dolf Camilli believes that will be the war year standard.

The new balata ball is the basis for Dolf's judgment.

"I don't care what I read, or what they tell me," Dolf insisted, "but the new baseball isn't nearly so lively as that with which we played in other years. It doesn't have the 'carry,' doesn't take off and go."

Dolf's remarks were inspired by the long right field fly with which he drove home the tying run in a recent game with the Boston Braves.

"I was never more convinced I'd hit a home run than I was when that one left the bat," he said. "It had exactly the right feel, and I was sure it was gone. Yet it didn't even reach the fence; that rookie out-fielder, Nieman, was able to run out and catch it."

"Nor is that the first time I have had that experience," Dolf amplified. "I figure Nieman's catch (and it wasn't so tough at that) was about the fifth extra base hit I've lost. We've been playing on a lot of cold and windy days, but nobody can convince me that is the explanation."

"Every batter knows the 'feel' of a well-hit ball. I've enjoyed that sensation time and again this year, but up to now I've got exactly three homers. The ball seems to lose its life as soon as it gets past the infield."

The figures support a great deal of what Camilli says. Dodger home run production, in fact the whole league's output, has been markedly reduced. Home run leaders in other years, the Dodgers have fewer than a dozen among them, and three of those were authored at the Polo Grounds, where the range is shorter than in any other park in the league.

Nor have the visiting teams done much better at Ebbets Field. The right field wall is an inviting target, but few of the boys have been able to hit it. Curiously, the right-handed hitters, shooting in the other direction have done the most authoritative clouting.

Danny Litwhiler and Earl Naylor, when they were with the Phils, reached the seats once each, and the Cardinals got one from Coaker Triplett and the Pirates one from Vince DiMaggio. No Red, Cub, Brave or Giant has hit an Ebbets Field home run.

A 15 home run total, Camilli's estimate, would just about cut in half the National League average for recent seasons. Dolf won the title with 34 in 1941, and last year strung together 26.

FINAL FIRST HALF GAME

Sweet Corn at Best Grown In Victory Gardens

Since we eat only the seed of the large plant, the yield is small for the space occupied. Many gardeners are willing to make a sacrifice in order to enjoy even a small amount of this superlative food, which only home gardeners can enjoy at its best. In markets, since it is impossible to get sweet corn in less than a day after it has been picked, half its sugar has been turned to starch, with corresponding loss of flavor.

A patch of sweet corn in a space fifteen feet square in normal weather should yield ten dozen ears. This is approximate, of course; each stalk bearing at least one ear, and some of them bearing two.

For the gardener who wants the finest sweet corn rather than the largest ear or heaviest yield, successive plantings of Golden Bantam will give the greatest satisfaction except in locations where disease resistance is required. The season during which a sowing of this corn is at its best is ten days at most; so not more than a 10 days' supply for your family should be sown at one time.

Hybrid sweet corn has both advantages and disadvantages. It gives a larger ear, and thus a heavier yield, coupled with a shorter season, and not quite so delicious a flavor. Most hybrids are disease resistant, and more vigorous than Golden Bantam, but they require more room and richer feeding to produce their heavier crop.

If hybrids are chosen, it is a good plan to sow three or four strains, with differing maturity dates, at the same time and thus prolong the harvest. This practice also extends the pollinating period of the planting and lessens the danger of a failure to fertilize the silk, which may occur where one hybrid strain only is grown due to unfavorable weather conditions.

A sowing of sweet corn should be made in four short rows, rather than in a single long row. This insures that when the pollen is ripe, a cross wind will carry it to the silk in the young ears of an adjoining row, rather than wasting it on the ground, as might be the case in a single row. Each silk must be fertilized by pollen, in order to produce a kernel, and many failures with corn are traceable to poor pollination.

Seed should be sown when danger of frost is over about two inches deep either in continuous drills or hills. In drills, sow three or four seeds to a foot, later to be thinned out to six inches apart for dwarf growing varieties or a foot apart for tall ones. Space the hills two to three feet apart in the rows, according to the size of the variety, and for both drills and hills, space the rows two to three feet apart.

Deep cultivation of corn must be avoided because the plants have shallow roots; but all weeds should be kept down and the soil stirred, to break its crust, until the plants are half grown. Side shoots and suckers need not be removed.

Ears should be picked when they are ready, neither before or after. If you grow Golden Bantam, for the last sowing a later variety will probably do best, as the extreme heat of midsummer is not favorable to Bantam.

Several Affected by Smoke, Fumes, Shock, at $50,000 Fire at Rohm & Haas Plant

Three fire companies from Burlington, N. J., answered the call of Chief Hagerman and were stationed in the Bristol Consolidated fire station where they were held in reserve. These included Endeavor Co., with a hose wagon and chemical truck and an ambulance; Mitchell Co., pumper; Niagara Company, chemical. Each of the apparatuses were fully manned and they remained here until the Bristol Consolidated Company and the Bristol volunteer companies returned to their stations.

Ambulances from the Bucks County Rescue Squad, and from Trenton, N. J., were called.

Great volumes of water were poured into the burning building and billows of smoke curled up from the burning structure into the air.

Wild reports were quickly in circulation as to the number injured. But when these were checked they were found to be figments of the imagination.

Chief Hagerman had nothing but praise for the co-ordinated efforts of the firemen of this area. The companies manned their own equipment and battled to subdue the flames. Dozens of streams of water were in service and the surface of the ground around the burning structure was turned into a pond.

It was the first big fire at which the Bristol Consolidated Department and the Bristol volunteer companies worked as a unit since the two organizations adopted a plan of co-ordinating their efforts. It was the first fire at which one of the two emergency pumpers of the Federal Government was in service. This pumper, allocated to Bristol Fire Co. No. 1, was in service and performed to the satisfaction of the firemen.
